

The unripened tree

One afternoon, two psychotic patients escaped from the psychiatric hospital.

They kept running and running, finally they stopped before a tree. The two men then climbed up the tree. Not long after, one of them jumped to the ground. Then he shouted to his companion on the tree, 'Oh! Why don't you come down?'

The man on the tree answered anxiously, 'I can't! I have not ripened yet.'

Pet grooming

A beautifully-dressed woman took her dachshund to the pet's beauty parlor for a pet grooming service. The woman inquired about the price. The shop assistant said, '600 dollars.'

'600 dollars? I just need to spend less than 300 dollars to have a hair-cut in the salon.' Then the shop assistant smiled and asked the woman, 'But can you bark?'

An honest father

Pierre and his son passed outside a five-star hotel where they saw a luxury vehicle parked at the entrance.

The son said with contempt, 'I'm sure that those who own this kind of car are certainly uneducated. Dad, do you agree?'

The father replied instantly, 'Yes, I'm sure that those who said this kind of words are certainly penniless. My dear son, do you agree?'